Description

This circular route takes us from the historic heart of Icod de los Vinos to the coast of San Marcos, combining heritage, tradition and beautiful scenery. Along the way, we pass through some of the town's main streets and squares, where we can discover historic buildings, churches and chapels that form an important part of the municipality's identity.

As we descend towards the coast, the urban landscape gradually gives way to an agricultural setting of terraced fields, historic estates and extensive banana plantations, with pleasant views of the Atlantic Ocean. The route reaches San Marcos Beach before returning to the historic centre along old paths, offering a different way to discover the history, landscapes and essence of Icod de los Vinos.

The return journey can also be completed on foot, by bus, or by taxi.
